"I want to know how to prune my fruit trees."

Slow Food Australia is excited to announce that we will be hosting a Wild Child Orchards Workshop! This workshop is perfect for the next Spencer Gulf Replenishers and anyone who wants to learn how to prune their fruit trees. Wild Child Orchards is a small orchard in the Adelaide Hills that grows a variety of apples, pears, plums, and cherries. Our workshop will be led by Wild Child Orchards' owner, Jeremy Hall.

The workshop will be held at Wild Child Orchards on Sunday, March 3rd and will be a full day of learning and "shadowing" as Hall helps teach Slow Food Australia's Replenishers how to prune their fruit trees. Lunch will be provided.

Is Food Free?
Yes! Slow Food Australia is covering the cost of the workshop. But you will be required to pay for your own travel and accommodation costs. Slow Food Australia will be able to help you find a place to stay, but you will be responsible for the cost of your accommodation.

IN THE ORCHARD

Winter in the Orchard

Winter is the time of year when the orchard is at its most dormant. Trees have shed their leaves and are preparing for the cold months ahead. It's a "quiet" for the trees, but there is still plenty to do in the orchard. Here are a few things that you can do in the orchard during the winter months.

Pruning is the most common winter activity in the orchard. Pruning is done with the aim of removing dead, diseased, or damaged branches. Pruning is also done to shape the tree and to encourage new growth. Pruning is usually done in late winter or early spring, before the trees start to bud.

Is Food Free?
Yes! Slow Food Australia is covering the cost of the workshop. But you will be required to pay for your own travel and accommodation costs. Slow Food Australia will be able to help you find a place to stay, but you will be responsible for the cost of your accommodation.
